Hannah joined Spectrum in 2015 after working for the CFO at Inspirato by American Express, one of Colorado's most exciting and successful entrepreneurial companies. Having firsthand operational experience on the client side has been extremely valuable to her successful transition into retained executive search. She fills critical assignments in each of Spectrum's 6 core verticals, with particular emphasis on leadership roles in accounting & finance, human resources, information technology, and sales.

Hannah is a graduate of The Leeds School of Business at the University of Colorado, having majored in finance. Her analytical foundation is highly valued by Spectrum customers seeking creative solutions to their human capital needs. Hannah's competitive spirit and drive is a by-product of many years of competitive athletics, including lettering for 4 years on her high school soccer team, which she captained her senior year.

A native of Rockford, Illinois, Hannah sits on the board of Project Aspire, a Denver-based nonprofit dedicated to providing scholarships for women pursuing advanced STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) degrees.
